Latin Play, "Aulularia", To Be Given Before College on Friday

Many Visitors Expected to Attend the Performance to be Given in the Gymnasium

PITCHER PLAYS TITLE ROLE

Dr. Chase Directs Production of Triennial Play

This week will witness the occurrence of what has become one of Hamilton's worthiest and most famous traditions, the presentation of the Hamilton Latin play. Every three years, since 1913, a play has been given, entirely in Latin, by Hamilton students, under the direction of Cleveland K. Chase, Litt.D., Benjamin Bates Professor of Latin. Excepting for a very few Catholic colleges, which occasionally present such a play, this tradition is as unique among the colleges and universities in America, as it is remarkable in its nature. The play this year, "Aulularia" by Plautus, is one of the best of the works of this famous Italian writer. It will be presented by students in the advanced Latin courses on Friday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock, in the Soper gymnasium.

In 1913 Dr. Chase directed and presented the first of the Latin plays, which have since become noted thruout the country. Among the cast of the first play, "The Captives," by Plautus, were Wallace Johnson, John Van Alstyne Weaver, and Leet Bissell. The first play proved so immediately and completely successful that Dr. Chase has presented it every three years ever since. The first two editions of the play, which were given before Charlatan performances had become regular, were given at Commencement time. Since the Charlatan plays have been given in June, Dr. Chase has presented the Latin plays at an earlier date. "Aulularia" will have a particular interest for French students, since it was on this play that Moliere based his famous "L'Avare."

The wide attention and interest which have been attracted by the Latin plays is evidenced by the many flattering offers which Dr. Chase has received to bring the plays to other colleges. Dr. Chase has been generally unwilling to take his plays on the road, as his sole purpose in presenting the plays is the broadening effect upon Hamilton. This year it is probable that he would have consented to go to Princeton, however, but for the lack of an adequate theater for such a presentation. He has promised the Latin department at Princeton, however, that they shall have an opportunity to view the next play, in 1929.

"Aulularia," or "The Pot of Gold," as the title is usually translated into English, is one of Plautus' best known comedies, and is considered to be one of that famous playwright's finest works. The plot is original and well-conceived, and the comedy is well-sustained. The action throughout is extremely amusing.

HAMILTONIAN GETS BEST RECEPTION IN YEARS

The 1927 Hamiltonian, which has made its appearance within the last few days, has established a new mark of perfection. The volume is replete with new departments, novel ideas, artistic prints, and well written articles and scurfs. The individual and group pictures are exceptionally fine. This is due, no doubt, to the high quality and glossy finish of the paper. The artistry of the campus views surpasses anything that has been done in recent years and would be hard to equal anywhere for beauty and distinction. The cover design performs no small part in carrying out the splendid effect of the entire volume. It is of finely worked gray leather, exceedingly plain in design and bearing the seal of the college below the words, 1927 Hamiltonian. Both the seal and the lettering are in a deep maroon. The design and covers were made by the Molloy Company.

The book is dedicated to Wallace B. Johnson, '15, Field Secretary of the College, "because Wally believes in Hamilton College." There is a department devoted to the faculty which has been omitted for the past few years but is revived for this issue. It contains an individual picture of each professor and instructor together with his position and degrees.

The humorous section, under the name of Jabberwocky, has been enthusiastically received. Among its many features are a cleverly written miniature edition of "Clinton Life," a scurf upon Hamilton Life, a sorority section graphically illustrated, and a vivid description of the "Charlie Chaplin Hoax." The song, "Faculty Blues," which was written by Philip H. Dowdell and L. Danforth Bates, '24, appears in the Hamiltonian for the first time. The intimate snaps of family life have caused a riot of laughter from those who have had the pleasure of glimpsing them.

This year's Hamiltonian gives to the College a year book of which it can be justly proud. No such result could have been possible without the greatest efforts of Editor Davis and his assistants. They cannot be too highy praised for their meritorious work.

The Hamiltonian was printed in the plant of The Courier Press, Inc., of Clinton.

MC KINNEY SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED THURSDAY

Of the list printed in last week's Life, of the men from each class chosen to compete in the preliminary trials for the McKinney Prize in declamation, the following are the successful competitiors. Twelve men were selected in each class for the trials, from which four have been chosen. Juniors: Burns, Forshay, Wilcox, Whitbeck; Sophomores: Mosher, F. E. Pierce, Strong, Wylie; Freshmen: Ellison, Sample, Stevens, Wadsworth. These men will speak on Friday, June 11, at 4 p. m., in the finals of the contest. The two men in each class who are successful in the finals will be awarded book prizes. The records of the competitors during the year will be considered in the final rating, as well as the quality of the speaking shown in the try-outs.

SUCCESSOR TO GABOON SHOWS REAL PROMISE

House Party Theme Predominates in Issue of New Humorous Publication

UNIQUE COVER BY HUGGINS

Interesting Stories Contributed by Woodhull

"The Chaperon has appeared and it has pleased." These few words concisely describe the debut of the humorous magazine which is being heralded as a new college publication and as a strictly underclassman activity. The Chaperon, "nee High Hat," which has adopted the size and form of the original Royal Gaboon, contains verse, humor, and sketches.

A great variety of exchange jokes and a number of apt puns and witty lines brighten the 32 pages of this first edition. The wise-cracks of a new character, "Kirkland Katy," have already made a hit and are sure to appear in later issues.

No Hill publication with sketches would be complete without some by "Ernie" Button, who has contributed five to this number. Only one is a full-page drawing, the others being inserts over jokes. The theme of all is the same, couples in a variety of poses "talking things up." Yuan has contributed one inset. But it remained for the freshmen to make an initial appearance. Earle R. Huggins' cover, done in red, white and black, depicts a newly arrived house party guest. The cleverest part of it is the season's coat-of-arms which is apropos of the occasion. MacDonald has shown his ability with a half-page sketch, "Turning over a new Paige."

The outstanding feature of the publication is "Le Philosophe Surpris" by "Dick" Woodhull, a clever four-part story of high society at a seashore resort. Although lacking in a few details of technique, it masterfully depicts some characters in the few lines allotted to them. Ezra Calem becomes a "down East" reality, Uncle Nat is a man we all like to meet, and the affair between Billy and Jinnie Lee is—well, interesting, to say the least. This story is followed by "The Rover Boys Come to College," a sequel to the Rover Boys' series and a good representation of the first big day at Oomlot.

Although published anonymously, the verse which appears is deserving of comment. "To the Gentlemen" is a parody of the song, "I've Taken My Fun Where I've Found It." It is in the form of a monologue by one who has frequented college parties. "A Loosey Poem" is written with apologies to Mr. Wordsworth and along the style of his "Lucy."

The spirit of houseparty season is sponsored from the editor's note of welcome to the type of jokes most in vogue. The editors are to be complimented on their courage of initiative, their novel means of distribution of copies, and the appearance of the finished product.

LAST MYERS LECTURER SPEAKS ON NEAR EAST

Last Thursday evening in the college chapel, William Lynn Westermann, Ph.D., Professor of Ancient History at Columbia, delivered the third and last Myers lecture of the year. Dr. Westermann chose as his topic the conditions in the Near East today in comparison with the conditions in ancient times.

"Our debt to Greece and Rome," said Dr. Westermann, "strikes me as but an instance of ancient worship." Whatever we have today has come down to us by inheritance, and not by debt, according to Dr. Westermann. The theory that we are indebted to antiquity for the League of Nations was refuted by the speaker. The ancient Greeks were of about the same pinion as Augustus, who said, "Peace can only be gotten by war." "Although the Greek leagues had some exterior likeness to our League of Nations," said Dr. Westermann, "they were very dissimilar." The ancient leagues had, as their aim, war, not peace.

Dr. Westermann stated that all nations should join in the league, but he further stated that if the League of Nations at any time deteriorates to a commercial status, it should be abolished.

BASEBALL TEAM LOSES GAME TO CLARKSON, 10-6

House Party Crowd Sees Buff and Blue Succumb to Eighth Inning Rally

HAMILTON LEADS AT START

Knox, Freshman Outfielder, Has Gala Day in Field and at Bat

An eighth inning rally on the part of the Clarkson baseball team was the chief factor that contributed toward the defeat of the Buff and Blue on Saturday. The final score was 10-6. In spite of the fact that the Hamilton team was cheered on by a large and enthusiastic houseparty audience, it was unable to stem the tide when Bucher knocked a fast one into right field with three men on. Sayre, Whiting, and Wheeler scored. Later in the inning Bucher scored after Kempf's single, and Kempf came home after a wild pitch.

The crowd on hand for the game was the largest of any so far this year. The scene was a colorful one, there being about 150 houseparty guests on hand. As usual the D. T. Club neophytes entertained the spectators between the innings with their announcements. Each man, according to custom, was clad in pajamas.

Although slightly outplayed in the matter of hitting, the Hamilton team displayed a good brand of ball. The error column showed 7 against Clarkson and 4 against the Buff and Blue. Hamilton's scores came in the second, fourth and sixth. In the second Chatfield and Courteau scored. At the end of the fourth Hamilton led 3-1, Courteau making his second run in that period. In the fifth inning Clarkson scored four runs and was leading the Buff and Blue 5-3. Then, in the sixth, Knox, King, and MacLean tallied. Hamilton held her one run lead until the fatal eighth when Clarkson rallied.

Knox proved the star of the game for the Buff and Blue. In addition to his making several brilliant catches in right field, he obtained three hits out of four times at bat. Capt. Courteau was responsible for two of Hamilton's runs. Martin pitched a splendid game, striking out seven men and passing only one. Bucher, the Clarkson pitcher, succeeded in striking out but four. A brilliant double play was made in the second, when, with a man on third, Knox caught a fly and returned the ball to Chatfield in time to catch the runner at home. O'Hare was the best individual player for Clarkson, making three hits and scoring twice. Every man on the Clarkson team made at least one run.

Hill Turns To Work Again After Gaiety of House Party Week-End

HAMILTONIAN BOARD CHOSEN FOR NEXT YEAR

The following men have been named by Frederic D. H. Gilbert, editor-in-chief of the 1928 Hamiltonian for the Hamiltonian Board, having been chosen by fraternities, with the purpose of making the scurfs more intimate: Bannerman, Estelow, Graves, Hays, Fisher, Leich, McKee, Moore, Morton, Pierce, Pitcher.

With Editor Gilbert, Managing Editor Ingalls, Business Manager Tatlock, and Circulation Manager Ballard, these men will produce the 1928 book. They have assigned particular sections of the work, and several departments of the book are begnining their preparation already. Bids are being received and the contracts for printing, engraving and binding will be let at an early date.

COLGATE SWAMPS TRACK SQUAD IN DUAL MEET

The Hamilton track team was smothered under a 100½-25½ score in its dual meet with Colgate at Colgate Saturday afternoon. The Maroon squad literally ran away with the meet, winning all first places and taking all three places in the 100-yard dash, the mile run and the pole vault.

In the field events the Buff and Blue showed up fairly well, Van Vleet as usual being high scorer, getting a second place in the shot put and tying for third in the high jump.

The Hamilton runners were no match for the Colgate men. Mann, a freshman, sprang a surprise by placing second in the quarter. In the two mile event Baker, freshman cross country star, sprinted the last quarter of a mile to come in third in a close finish. Cutter, former U. F. A. athlete, managed to get a second place in the high hurdles and a third place in the low hurdles. The only other Hamilton men to place in the running events were Kinlock, who managed to get a third in the 220-yard dash, Oates, with a third in the half mile, and Smith with a third in the high hurdles.

Colgate possessed probably lthe strongest team which the Buff and Blue will have to stack up against this year. The weather was ideal and the track was in fine condition, making it possible for the runners to turn in exceptionally good times. In the 100 yard dash Don Charles, Colgate's star sprinter, broke the college record and equalled the college record for the 220 yard dash. Al Graning, the Colgate captain, proved the high scorer of the meet, winning first place in the half mile and in both hurdle events. In the field events Tryon, famous Maroon football player, proved a mighty power.

The summaries:

100 yard dash: Charles C; Fink C; Reiner, C. Time, 9 4-5 seconds.

220 yard dash: Charles C; Fink C; Kinlock, H. Time: 21 3-5 seconds.

440 yard dash: Van Horn C; Mann, H; Simmons, C. Time, 51 9-10 seconds.

Half mile: Graning, C; Krehl, C; Oates, H. Time: 1:59 3-10.

Mile run: Krehl, C; Miller, C; Robinson. C.

Two mile: Rosa, C; Smith, C; Baker, H. Time: 10:18 1-10.

120 high hurdles: Graning C; Cutler, H; Smith, H. Time 16 flat.

220 low hurdles: Graning, C; Long, C; Cutter, H. Time: 26 2-5.

Shot put: Short, C; Brockway, H; Tryon, C. Distance, 39 ft. 6¼ in.

Discus: Short, C; Brockway, H; Tryon, C. Distance, 124 ft. 1½ in.

Javelin throw: Hedeman, C; Stone, H; DeSarmo, H. Distance, 157 ft. 4 in.

Pole vault: Westney, C; Bolte, C; Tryon, C. Tied for first place. Height, 9 ft. 8 in.

Broad jumy: Reimer, C; Fink, C; Holley, H. Distance, 20 ft. 11 3-8 in.

High jump: Stafford, C; Ireland, H; Van Vleet, H; Westney, C; Merrick, H; Long, C; tied. Height, 5 ft. 4 in.

Total score: Colgate 100½, Hamilton 25½.

Charlatans' Performance of "The Crow's Nest" Starts the Festivities on Friday Evening

D. T. CLUB PUTS ON SKITS

Tea Dances Held at Chi Psi and Theta Delta Chi Houses

With the stroke of 12 Saturday night, the gaiety of one more in the lists of Spring House Parties was brought to a close in the houses of 10 fraternities on the Hill. The weekend was formally completed by the Chapel service on Sunday morning.

The Charlatans' presentation of "The Crow's Nest" on Friday night in the Hall of Commons, which opened the weekend festivities, was received by the party guests in the same appreciative manner that predominated at the presentation in Utica earlier this spring. The cast which was the same as that of the Utica performance, included Williams, '29, Roberts, '28, and Olmsted, '28.

Immediately after the completion of the Charlatans' performance the dancing in the various fraternity houses commenced. The upperclassmen and the sophomores who were allowed the privilege of visiting, made full use of their privilege, despite the rain which fell intermittently.

The weather, which threatened rain earlier in the day, cleared up about noon Saturday in time for the D. T. skits, the tea dances and the athletic matches which were scheduled for the day's entertainment.

At noon the D. T. neophytes put on their time honored skit of Romeo and Juliet with slim Doane, with his scant 180 pounds playing the leading lady and Harry Caulkins the part of Romeo.

The ball game with Clarkson and the tennis match with Hobart held the center of attention during the most of the afternoon though around 5 o'clock a large number of the spectators began to drift over to the tea dances and the play by the D. T. neophytes on the Sig lawn.

The D. T.'s held their regular tea dance for their members at the Theta Delt house, the music for which was furnished by the Seneca Serenaders. The only other dance on the Hill during the afternoon was the Freshman-Sophomore hop at the Chi Psi Lodge. This was very well attended despite the number of other diversions. The music for the dance was supplied by Red Herson's Orchestra of Ithaca. On Saturday night as usual the various crowds held private parties lasting until 12.

The weekend was completed by the Chapel service on Sunday morning. Dr. Paul Moody of Middlebury College, who was the preacher for last Sunday, delivered an interesting address on "Herd Instincts." As usual the galleries were lined with rows of girls while the usual seats downstairs were vacant of their customary occupants.

DR. DALE SPENDS BUSY WEEK ON FIELD TRIPS

The past week was a big one in the history of the geology department. On Thursday the annual trip to Trenton Falls was made and on Friday and Saturday at Syracuse was held the annual meeting of the Intercollegiate Geology Association. Dr. N. C. Dale, the head of this department, together with about half a dozen students, was in attendance at this event.

The system of employing busses for transportation which proved so satisfactory on the Little Falls trip held on April 30, was again used Thursday when the members of Geology 2 motored to Trenton Falls on a rock-exploring expedition. A few stations and much hiking rendered the tired crew ready for the big feature of the day, which was a dinner at the summer home of Dr. James H. Glass of Utica, a trustee of the college. At his home on the west shore of West Canada Creek, Dr. Glass has acted as host to this class for several years. The students and Dr. Dale appreciate that it is no little task to provide food and smokes for about 80 hungry fellows.

On Friday morning the representatives of about 10 colleges gathered at Lyman Hall, Syracuse University, as the guests of the university at the

FRESHMEN DROP CLOSE GAME TO SYRACUSE, 2-1

The freshman baseball team dropped its first match of the season to the Syracuse Central High nine here Friday afternoon by the score of 2-1. The game, which was scheduled to last but seven innings, was extended to nine when each team succeeded in tallying in the seventh.

Both teams played airtight ball for the first six frames, neither team scoring. In the opening half of the seventh two hits and an error brought in the first run of the game.

In their half of the same inning the frosh came back strong, to tie the count when Rozelle crossed the plate after an error by Syracuse.

In the eighth frame neither team was able to score mainly due to the excellent pitching by both hurlers. In the ninth the High team sewed up the game when a safe bingle drove in the winning run. The freshmen failed to score in their half of the ninth.

The game was featured by the sensational pitching of Allen and Van Eselstein, the two Syracuse twirlers. In nine innings they fanned 18 men between them, an average of two an inning.

The local team played good ball for the most part, although their work was somewhat marred by the large number of errors.

MUSIC AT HAMILTON

Some one or other, possibly Alex Woollcott, has been quoted as saying that Hamilton was a singing college. There can be no doubt that Hamilton has made great strides forward in both the rendition and the appreciation of classical music during the last four or five years. Invaluable instruction in singing has been given the 50 men who compose the choir, and the college has come to appreciate choral music through the weekly anthems. The Whiting concerts during the past winter have given the undergraduates at least a taste of classical music in various forms.

But with this growing appreciation for good music, there has entered a new element which threatens to do away entirely with spontaneous singing on the part of the undergraduates. For instance, last Wednesday morning the undergraduates, forming the customary circle after chapel, sang "Carissima." College singing is nothing but a reflection of college spirit. Even in singing their Alma Mater, college men are expected to sing with earnestness, vigor and spirit. This certainly was not the case last Wednesday morning. The few men who were singing inside of the chapel immediately ceased when they got outdoors, and what singing there was, was done by the choir assembled on the steps.

There can be only one explanation for this failure to sing Carissima as it should be sung. In learning to appreciate good music, Hamilton undergraduates have become entirely too self-conscious. The fear that the stigma of being half a tone off key will be placed on his name keeps more than one undergraduate from singing as he wants to, and should, sing. That, we maintain, is carrying the matter to ridiculous extremes.

Another example of the majority being restrained from singing by the supercilious attitude of a few trained singers occurred on a recent geology trip. Seventy men, dressed in hiking costume and having just completed half a day's hiking, had an occasion to sing. In the open woods with only half a dozen auditors, one would certainly have expected the lusty singing of college and novelty songs.

After rather feeble attempts at "Gather Close" and one other college song (every one checking himself for fear of being off key) the "hoi polloi" remained entirely silent while the dozen members of the choir present sang, "Heaven," "Lo, How a Rose," and "Down by the River." There was even talk of trying "Ave Maria" and "Creation's Hymn." These are all excellent songs, but to us they seemed decidedly inappropriate.

Then, in the very middle of "Carissima," a heated discussion broke out between the leader and one of the singers, as to whether or not that particular singer had gone up a third of a tone.

Those men who can sing should be given due credit for their ability. But the rest of the college, some of whom may really enjoy singing even if they are half a tone off key, should not be bulldozed out of the privilege of singing.

GRIFFITH, '17, IS ACTIVE IN SOCIAL WORK ABROAD

"Ernie" Griffith, son of Dr. George Griffith, for some years superintendent of the public schools of Utica, and a member of the class of 1917, is one of Hamilton's alumni who is distinguishing himself abroad. His particular line of work is social welfare for young people and adults of both sexes.

Mr. Griffith was graduated from Utica Free Academy in 1912 and matriculated at Hamilton, where he won a number of prizes and was also given a Phi Beta Kappa key. He was elected a Rhodes Scholar and in that capacity received his Ph.D. at Oxford. He is a member of Delta Upsilon.

Since 1923 he has been acting as warden of the Liverpool University Settlement, incorporated in 1913. This is an institution managing 16 boys' clubs and scout troops, as well as maintaining a gymnasium for men, women and girls. It has 85 voluntary workers from Oxford, Cambridge, St. Andrews', London, Liverpool, Edinburgh, Wales, and other universities.

The club has 1,005 members, of whom 205 are men, 195 are women, 323 boys, 130 girls, and 152 members of affiliated societies. Last year a new building was erected to meet the growing needs of the organization. At the latest annual report it was announced that the subscriptions to-date for this construction work totalled 115,891 pounds, or about $579,455.

In addition to his chosen life work Dr. Griffith is a member of the following committees and associations: Manager of St. James' School, business manager of the David Lewis Theater, on the committee for summer camps, Liverpool Boys' Association, Rota Committee, University School of Social Studies, Citizens' Institute Association, Juvenile Unemployment, Juvenile Organization Committee, executive of Federation of Residential Settlements, Personal Service Society, Workers' Education Society, and other religious committees.

Mr. Griffith is one of those comparatively few who has the ability to succeed in anything he undertakes. He has shown that Hamilton men can be of service either in America or abroad.

ELEVEN MEN PLEDGED TO PI DELTA EPSILON

At a recent meeting of Pi Delta Epsilon 11 men were elected to membership in the national honorary journalistic society. The constitution was amended so that a man holding the position of managing editor of one of the three college publications and also a position on another board might be eligible for election by a three-fourths vote of the association. Those elected were: Frederic S. Marquardt, Editor of Life, Press, Board, Circulation Manager of 1927 Hamiltonian; Norris H. Hoyt, Managing Editor of Life, Hamiltonian Board; Frederick Ingalls, Managing Editor of 1928 Hamiltonian, Royal Gaboon; Frederick Gilbert, Editor of 1928 Hamiltonian; Burton Belden, Chairman Press Board; Fred Ballard, Circulation Manager 1928 Hamiltonian, Life Board, Press Board; William H. Quinn, Assistant Business Manager Life; Bruce Tatlock, Business Manager 1928 Hamiltonian; William Mulligan, Life and Press Boards, Hamiltonian; John Allen, Life, Hamiltonian and Royal Gaboon Boards, and Editor of the Freshman Handbook; George Tyler, Life, and Hamiltonian Boards, and Business Manager of the Freshman Handbook.

ST. LAWRENCE BEATS BASEBALL TEAM 5-4

Knox, Freshman Pitcher, Makes Good Showing

The St. Lawrence baseball team triumphed over the Buff and Blue on Wednesday with a score of 5-0. Two hits far out into right field by Skvorak and Burkman in the second and sixth innings respectively counted as home runs for St. Lawrence and caused four tallies. Skvorak scored the fifth run in the ninth inning when Van Dusen sacrificed.

In spite of the rather one-sided score the Hamilton team played a fairly consistent game. Knox, who was pitching his first game for the Buff and Blue, made an excellent showing, allowing no bases on balls and striking out three men. Worboys at first base accounted for 18 put-outs.

Church, Worboys and Warren were responsible for Hamilton's three hits. The Buff and Blue's chief difficulty seemed to be in her inability to hit safely. The score sheet showed that on eight occasions men flied out. Neither infield nor outfield were error proof, having made four errors as against the Scarlet's two.

Chatfield, who was unable to play due to a split finger received in the Syracuse game, batted in the ninth inning for Church.

ECONOMICS 3-4 CLASS VISITS UTICA PLANTS

Professor Patton took his class in Economics 3-4 on its annual spring trip through neighboring industries last Tuesday afternoon in order to show the men the latest steps in the development of the steam engine and the process of spinning. The trip, begining early in the afternoon, lasted nearly five hours.

Immediately after leaving the Hill the class visited the spinning plant of the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Co. in Utica. Here the students were shown the process of spinning the cord for the cord tires, and the looms on which the cords were woven.

From the Dunlop plant the class went to the Washington Street plant of the Utica Gas and Electric Co., where they examined the boiler room and the steam turbines. From here the class went to the new Harbor Point plant, which is to be opened this coming August. At the Harbor Point plant the men inspected the methods of construction of boilers, turbines and steam condensers.

The final stop of the afternoon was made at a coke by-product plant. At this plant the method of obtaining coke was clearly explained, and the men were told how the coal was put into the furnace and the charge of coke expelled. The whole process of obtaining the by-products of tar, ammonium sulphate, and illuminating gas, was clearly illustrated.

According to Professor Patton the trip this year was the best that has been made for some time.

When the straight-8 blows a shoe

BEFORE you even look for the jack or tire-tools, tuck a neat wad of Prince Albert into the muzzle of your jimmy-pipe. Light up . . . and get yourself in the frame of mind where a flat tire is "all in the day's work." Talk about a gloom-chaser!

P. A. simply knocks troubles for a row of planished-steel mudguards. Its cool, soothing smoke percolates into your system, the sun crashes through the clouds, and everything is hotsy-totsy. Yes indeed, Fellows, Prince Albert is great tobacco.

And paste this in the fly-leaf of your thesaurus: P. A. can't bite your tongue or parch your throat, no matter how hard you hit it up. The Prince Albert process flunked Bite and Parch on their first examination. Get a tidy red tin of P. A. now and see.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

LATIN PLAY NEXT FRIDAY

The whole play is dominated by one character, the role on which the whole plot turns, that of the miser, Euclio. Seymour Pitcher, '28, is the choice of the department for the title role, and there is every reason to believe that this leading part will be played in a sympathetic and extremely capable fashion. This part is one of the most famous in all Latin comedy, and is a very difficult one to handle.

The story of "Aulularia" is a fascinating and interesting one. Euclio has recently come into possession of the pot of gold, which has been in his family for many years, but which has been lost for three generations. Instead of putting his new-found wealth to immediate and profitable use, however, the miser hoards his money, as had his father and grandfather before him. His treatment of his daughter is similar to his treatment of his pot of gold, and the result is the same in both cases—the loss of each. However, as in all of Plautus' works, the end is a happy one, and everyone is contented with his lot in the end, even the greedy, hard-shelled, tight-fisted old Euclio.

One feature of this comedy, which renders it of particular interest, is the excellence of certain lyrical passages, known as cantica, which occur frequently throughout the play. These passages are somtimes chanted, and are variously rendered. The music which the Hamilton players will use for the cantica was written for similar passages in Terence's "Phormio," by Professor Frederic Deforrest Allen of Harvard. Dr. Allen's music has been rearranged for this play.

Another interesting part of the performance will be furnished by the nature of the customing. The Hamilton plays are known for the closeness with which the costumes follow the day for which the plays were written. It is impossible to secure correct costumes, and it is necessary for them to be made especially for each performance, although now Dr. Chase has on hand costumes for nearly every type of role.

A particularly amusing scene is that between an old serving woman, a part played by Thomas, '27, and a household god, played by Schiro, '26. Much badinage, punning, and witty repartee make this scene one of the most entertaining in the entire performance. Aside from these characters the cast will include Lonsdale, '26, as an elderly Athenian lady; Roberts, '28; Wylie, '28, as a cook; Hoyt, '27, a slave; Daymont, '26, a young Athenian, and others.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate a very large crowd. In the past these plays have been witnessed by many visitors from other colleges, from Utica and vicinity, as well as by the college and community, and it seems probable that as many if not more will desire to see this year's performance. Librettos will be distributed to the audience, which will give a complete outline of the play, and a partial translation.

DR. DALE HAS BUSY WEEK

society's annual meeting. The entire day was spent in visiting the glacial cataract formations near Jamesville. That evening all visitors were guests of the institution at the annual dinner at the Hotel Syracuse. Saturday was devoted to trips to the Devonian regions of the Onondaga Valley and the vicinity of Tully. Unfortunately more Hamilton men were unable to attend as it was house party weekend. It will be remembered that last year's meeting of this organization was held at Clinton in the spring.

This week Friday and Saturday the members of the Geology 6 class will motor to the mining region of the western Adirondacks where an opportunity will be given the students to observe operations and developments at first hand.

HAMILTON COURT MEN CHALK UP FIRST WIN

Victories in Two Singles and Two Doubles Matches Give 4-2 Victory

After chalking up its first victory of the season over Hobart Saturday by the score of 4-2, the Buff and Blue tennis team is scheduled to play four out of town matches during the coming week, meeting Union, Rutgers, Stevens, and Colgate respectively.

Playing some of the best tennis of the year, the Hamilton net men split even in the single matches, and won both the doubles matches, despite the absence of Reed, who was unable to take part in the match because of illness. Warfield, who filled in the vacant place, arose to the occasion, however, trimming his opponent 6-2, *-3 in the singles matches.

In the singles matches Captain Davenport fell before French, the Hobart number one man, 7-5, 6-3. French seemed to have solved Davenport's usually baffling serve, returning it in almost every case.

McGregor easily took in Bently, Hobart number two man, taking first a love set and allowing only one game to his opponent in the second set. Hamilton's only other loss besides that of Davenport's came when Ballard dropped to Pelton after a hard struggle which forced the match to extend into three sets, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

In the doubles the Hamilton teams were easily victorious, winning both these matches in two sets. Ballard and Warfield had no difficulty in defeating the Bently Clark combination, winning 6-1, 6-3, while Davenport and McGregor defeated French and Pelton 6-4, 8-6.

What Is A Life Underwriter?

One who executes and delivers a life insurance policy. In other words, a person whose business it is to offer the known benefits of life insurance to individuals, to corporations, to partnerships, etc.

But further, the life underwriter is one who must convince those clients of the benefits offered. This means stimulating contact with human character, and with large affairs. Some underwriters prefer the game of character and deal mainly with individuals. Others prefer affairs; to them is open the great field of business insurance.

Furthermore, the business of life underwriting pays highly for initiative and ability.

And still more, the life underwriter offers to his client a commodity which has no risk in it, does not deteriorate, and adds no burden of mental worry. The life underwriter sells absolute security, the foundation of serenity of mind.

It is worth while to think these things over now and to remember them when, perhaps, you find yourself wrongly placed in whatever business you may have chosen.

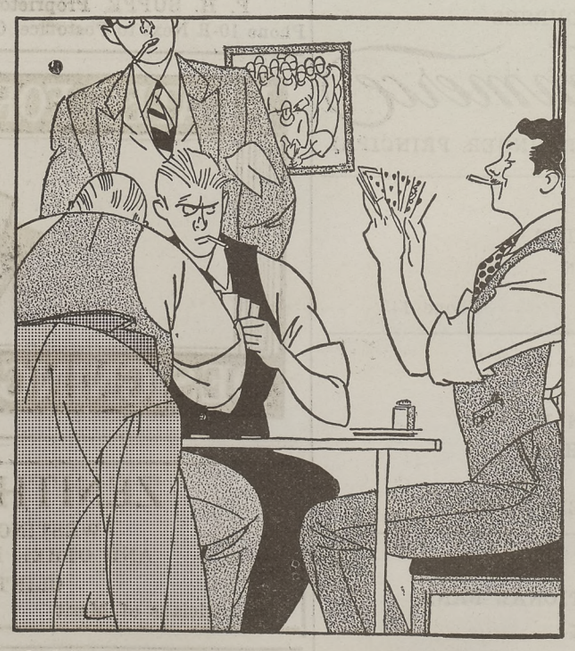
When it's a rainy night—and with three crafty bridge players your luck is running wild
—have a Camel!



WHEN the dark skies are pouring rain outside. And fickle fate deals you hands at bridge that you play with consummate skill—have a Camel!

For Camel is the silent partner that helps every deserving player win his game. Camels never hurt or tire the taste, never leave a trace of cigaretty after-taste. Regardless of the gold you spend, you'll never get choicer tobaccos than those rolled into Camels.

So this evening as you ply your unerring skill, evoke then the mellowest fragrance that ever came from a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

Camels represent the utmost in cigarette quality. The choicest of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos are blended into Camels by master blenders and the finest of French cigarette paper is made especially for them. Into this one brand is concentrated all of the knowledge, all of the skill of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men.

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.
